

Six workflow risks that make AI production hard to scale

AI production teams generate thousands of images, videos, and iterations daily. Every asset carries a history: prompts, models, references, revisions, approvals, and derivatives. When that history is scattered, teams lose the ability to reproduce, extend, and trust their best work.